

Express Check-In

A Self-service Solution To Speed Up Registration

OffenderWatch® Express Check-in is a secure website where offenders are able to pre-enter certain data, such as an address change or a vehicle update, and print out a pre-populated form before appearing in person to the officer.

Dramatically cut processing time. Speed up your re-registration and address update process to a fraction of what it is today.

How It Works

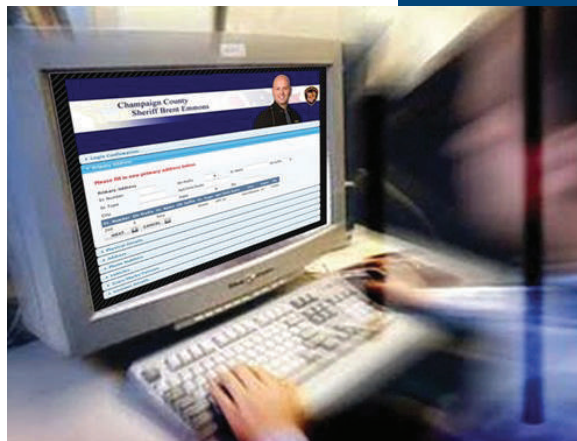

Offenders like OffenderWatch® Express Check-in because it is simple, secure, and saves them time. Offenders can:

- Log in via the internet using their name, last 4 digits of their SSN, and date of birth
- Update any information that requires validation and may have changed
- View their next verification / re-registration date
- Enter an email address to receive a reminder 14 days prior to the next verification date
- Print a receipt to bring to the registering agency

Officers save time entering and editing offender records. Officers can:

- Offer OffenderWatchh® express on a computer or kiosk in the lobby to encourage offenders to save time in the "Express Line"
- See the email address and IP address of the computer the offender used as well as any computer that attempted login
- Receive a message when an offender has made an update to his file
- Hold updates in suspense until the offender appears in person to review and attest to the accuracy of the data
- View a list of all offender registration updates in the file that are pending, completed, or expired
- When the officer is satisfied with the data, the file is then applied to the registry database

"It saves so much time and headache, especially with the homeless population which has to register on a weekly basis," said Deputy Dan Webster. "We have probably cut down 15-20 minutes per offender visit which adds up to a huge time savings."

OffenderWatch® Express can dramatically reduce the time required to process routine updates from over 20 minutes to just 2-3 minutes.
